Why Get a Step Up Instrument Now?

- A step up instrument will improve your child's tone, intonation and agility - and will allow him to continue to grow as a young musician.
- With all-state, region, and district auditions approaching rapidly, a step up instrument will give your child the best possible chance for achieving his goals.
- A step up instrument will encourage your child to spend more time playing - and the more time he spends playing, the more all his other academic subjects will benefit from his improved musical skills.
- With the holidays approaching, our selection has never been better, and some of our major manufacturers are offering rebates now through Christmas Eve on select instruments.
